BILLIONS FOR WHAT?

Washington, it is said, plans to reveal its defense program one detail at a time lest the public be staggered by the proportions. Hints of the shape of things to come are being passed along quietly—more than 100 billion dollars to be spent on the armament program, drastic curtailment of materials used to supply the civilian market, elimination of many producers who cannot be fitted into the arsenal-for-democracy program.

The prospect being unfolded is this: The United States, richest country on earth, is about to spend money on a vaster scale than ever dreamed of before to check Adolf Hitler's bid for domination of the world. Added to the already existing program, which National Economy league estimates will cost $77,000,000,000 or $37 a month for the average family for the next five years, will be perhaps that much more.

The arithmetic is beyond comprehension. But it is not arithmetic and billions that can defeat Hitlerism anyway. Behind the money must be a plan, and the plan must be better than the grand strategy which the Nazis have borrowed from their thinkers and militarists. It is not going to be enough merely to make the United States the arsenal of democracy unless the weapons in the arsenal are used to good purpose.

There has been slight evidence so far of advance planning for the job. In the latest instance of stop-gap action, Russia is supposed to draw on the arsenal of democracy, but Russia already is fighting with its back to the wall. The time and the terms of conflict still are being dictated by Germany. There is talk of an offensive against the Axis, but no one knows where it possibly could occur, or how it could be prepared for.

The United States, which has set out to amass more defense equipment than ever was amassed before, lacks any clear concept of what is going to be done when its goal is reached. Rather, it should be said that if there is a clear concept it is not being shared with the public. The result is confusion which is bound to grow worse in ratio to the sacrifices necessitated by what otherwise must seem to be only an accumulation of the materials of war without any grand strategy for their use. The administration has a job of selling to do.

MAKING FEDERAL ECONOMY ATTRACTIVE

The trouble with economy in government, as even the little children in the street know, is that politicians lack incentive to save money. For spending it they win votes and influence people, but for saving it they get nothing but a kick in the pants.

It is plain, therefore, that the only way to persuade politicians to take a lively interest in economy is to put more pressure on them from the saving side than the spending side. All things being equal, they will vote the way they think they can pick up the greater number of votes.

Ohio Chamber of Commerce is now in the midst of a drive to put pressure on congressmen and other politicians from the saving side. The drive is one of those rare things that seem to be perfectly timed for the purpose, like hot coffee at a football game in a sleet storm. This is why.

Right now, congressmen can't think of any good reason why they should worry because the government isn't matching the taxpayers' sacrifices; the taxpayers aren't saying anything about it. That's because the taxpayers don't know the extent of their own suffering yet.

But wait. Wait till they are taxed for the use of their automobiles. Wait till they learn how many days they must work merely to pay their income taxes. Wait till they begin to wonder if the air they breathe is going to be taxed, too. There is going to be more incentive for politicians to get interested in federal economy than there ever was before—and woe to the office seekers who can't prove they saw all this coming and did something about it in advance.

DISAPPOINTED CANDIDATES

Among the disappointed candidates for the Nobel peace prize, which the Swedish government is not going to award this year, are some of the best known individuals and organizations in the world.

Adolf Hitler has thirsted for peace ever since he came to power and has said so publicly on numerous occasions. Benito Mussolini has been a tireless champion of peace, according to his lights.

Winston Churchill, accredited as a warmonger by the enemy, was a voice crying in the wilderness for years—in behalf of peace. There would be none, he said, unless Great Britain kept abreast of the leader in the armament race.

The Communist party in Russia came out strong for peace a ter the World war, dubbed capitalist countries as the wicked advocates of war. The Nazi party in Germany meanwhile was sure that the Communist party was fomenting war. The Fascist party in Italy, the Conservative and Liberal parties in Great Britain, the many parties of France, the Democratic and Republican parties of the United States—all wanted peace. Perhaps in their way some of them did contribute as much to peace as the Nobel peace prize winners of past years, but there is no peace in 1941.

THAT LAST MIGHTY BLOW

Everything had been made ready during the three and a half months of the Russian campaign for "the last mighty blow which shall crush this opponent before winter sets in," said Adolf Hitler to his soldiers on the eastern front when October began.

Winter has set in. Moscow stands. The "vast quantities of foodstuffs, fuel and munitions" which Hitler assured his soldiers were behind the lines cannot be as vast as they were three weeks ago. The last mighty blow still is not finished.

It has been a tremendous campaign. For the most part it has gone just as Hitler predicted—except for winter. There can be only a few more days, two weeks at the most, until storms and low temperatures make further advance impossible. The German army will have to be quartered and fed in a hostile country. There is nothing to plunder in Russia; the Russians never have been able to feed even themselves satisfactorily.

It is still not beyond the realm of possibility that the last mighty blow Hitler admitted it was necessary to strike to fulfill his aims may land on the point of his own chin.

For Friday, October 24

WITH certain intriguing and tricky situations duly sidestepped the auguries for this day should hold a moderate degree of promise. However there may be menaces of all sorts of treacheries, distortions, confusions and pitfalls to be rigidly guarded against. Wiles and crafts of various natures may lure to extravagance or indulgence, eventually assuming a legal aspect. Sign papers wisely.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which every step may challenge their probity, integrity, prudence and sound sense in maintaining a safe and sane balance. There are signs of so many different kinds of lures, frauds, impositions and treacheries that it will probably take much precaution and stamina to sidestep confusion and chaos as well as legal entanglements and financial losses. Loss of caste and prestige as well. Confer with superiors or avowed friends in such difficulties. Shun extravagance and doubtful excesses.

A child born on this day may have many subtleties of character, with a pleasure and luxury loving tendency, which should enlist strict supervision and analysis in its youth.

When about to despair of civilization it's a good plan to look up an old friend for reassurance. If he is found to be the same kindly, gracious and sane citizen, all is well.

After you have read all the rules for right living, written by the wise philosophers, somewhere in the fine print at the bottom you will find the word "work."

ARMY CAMP EPIDEMICS ARE FEWER

Health Situation Much Better Than In 1917-18

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Assembling men from different parts of the country and widely different environments into the close contact of military mobilization favors the spread of infectious diseases. Outbreaks and epidemics are bound to occur. To prevent them as far as possible is one of the great problems of the administrative department of our new army.

From the record so far, the efforts have met with astonishing success. There has been not one of the only answer to the control of respiratory infections. But the method has had a practical trial in some of the public schools of Swarthmore, Penna., and the Germantown Friends school of Philadelphia.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Q. J. B.: "What can be done for a dropped stomach? Would an operation help, or a good diet and exercise?"

Answer: A dropped stomach is simply part of a general body condition. The whole system has to be toned up. For a dropped stomach, avoid an operation as you would the devil. People with dropped stomachs need to put on weight. Also a judicious combitwentieth the trouble with epidemics that attended the mobilization of 1917-1918.

Zinsner suggested a scheme of gradual mobilization, consisting of regional aggregations of recruits for a few months before concentration in larger groups of men from widely separated parts of the country. Undoubtedly this has played a part in the small incidence of epidemics in the present mobilization.

In 1917-1918 thousands of men were thrown together at one time, and they did not have a chance to acquire a gradual immunity to each other's carrier infections.

Of course the control of typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox is carried out by vaccination rigorously administered. These infections which were the bane of armies in other times are things of the past. For troops going to tropical stations we have the possibilities of vaccination against yellow fever, cholera, plague and typhus fever. The routine use of tablets toxic to prevent lockjaw is recommended and being tried.

Respiratory Diseases
The hazard of respiratory diseases, such as influenza and pneumonia, can at the present state of our knowledge be met only with general precautionary measures. A board has recently been established by the secretary of war to "make immediate arrangements to control respiratory diseases and reduce their mortality to a minimum."

A precaution which I saw being carried out in an army hospital was the use of curtains between every bed in the wards. We learned the value of this late in the last war. The curtains cut down the incidence of cross infection. Respiratory diseases are spread by the large droplets, which contain myriads of bacteria, coughed and sneezed up from throat, lungs and nose.

Wells has demonstrated that these droplets remain in the air with viable bacteria and float over longer distances than was ever thought possible. He has also shown that ultra violet radiation is lethal to organisms of the droplet nuclei in the atmosphere. Of course the radiant disinfection of air is not needed. Rest after meals an hour. Use special exercises to strengthen the abdominal muscles—lie on the floor and raise the legs stiff—fifty times.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

This wasn't the David she knew and wasn't her David! Words she had heard around them. He didn't say anything. He made it hard.

"David," she began, and couldn't go on.

He stood in front of her—her David and not her David! Words she had heard around them. He didn't say anything. He made it hard.

"I don't care what you've lost, I'll love you. But I've lost my job at Slagans and I can't—"

He sounded far away. "I'll always love you. But I've lost my job at Slagans and I can't—"

"I don't care what you've lost, I'll love you. But I've lost my job at Slagans and I can't—"

Then his voice, "I'm here now as Mr. Garrison's personal secretary. I don't know how long it will last. I can't explain, hon."

The lovely room grew clearer, each exquisite object outlined against the sun flooding through from the brick terrace. Jane rose to her feet. "Of course, I understand," she said. "I'm so glad you're all right, David."

"You don't understand yet," he exploded. "I've got to make good. I've blocked her way. Please, Jane, trust me. I haven't a penny. I've got to do this out. I can't even tell you yet."

"I'm here now as Mr. Garrison's personal secretary. I don't know how long it will last. I can't explain, hon."

She held her head high. "I wish you luck, David."

He was beside her, gripping her arm. "You can't go like this," he said.

A voice spoke gently from the hall. "Who can't go like this?"

In flushed confusion, Jane stepped back as Mattie Breanu entered. "What a pleasure!" His dark liquid eyes surveyed Jane with a hint of amusement. "Miss Rider! I've been hoping to see you again! You're not leaving?"

He glanced at Jane. "You're not leaving?"

"Mr. Garrison will be back any moment," David wasn't good at hiding his feelings.

Fan Rubley swayed her tall figure toward David, her round blue eyes mild. Her faint, heady perfume delectable his anger. "Be a nice boy," she murmured. "Mat likes you. He really does. So do I."

She held him back. "If you want to keep your girl, just pretend you're crazy about me." She squeezed his arm. "I wish you were."

Garrison's key turned lightly, and he was beside them. "Hello, Fan. Doing the honors, Farland? That's right," he said to the hovering McGuire. "Cocktails, Champagne for Mrs. Rubley."

Then he saw Jane. Her distressed eyes met his, in appeal. "I'm so glad you could drop in for cocktails this afternoon, Miss Rider." His handclasp steadied her.

Breanu said gently, "It is indeed a welcome surprise." His stare mocked David. It said mutely yet clearly: You're out of your depth, my lad. I got you fired from Slagans. I can do the same here. Yes, I now—his look telegraphed to David—You meddled in my business the other night. See what you got!

The color had returned to Jane's cheeks. She didn't look at David and Fan Rubley.

Mattie Breanu said softly, "I am glad to meet you under happier circumstances, Miss Rider. I shall come to see you in the country some day soon." And he insisted on escorting her to her car.

David wanted to run after Jane as she left Garrison's apartment, accompanied by Mat Breanu. But what good would that do? Nothing had changed in the whole ghastly situation. He had tried to explain when she came to him so loyally, saying she was sorry; saying she would marry him, anyway. She would never forgive him for turning her down; never understand why Carlisle Breanu's murder must be cleared before they could ever be happy together.

He moved away from Garrison and Fan Rubley. The large room breathing culture and the modern orchestration of craft below, on the East River—the setting of a world unfamiliar to him, increased David's restlessness. He felt caged, trapped. Why had a man like Garrison—wealthy, established in his legal profession—employed him; an ex-salesman of sports goods, as a secretary? There were so many threads and no defined pattern to the affair.

David turned to encounter Fan Rubley's round, beautiful eyes. "You love that girl," she stated in her low husky voice. "Love is a terrible thing." She looked back into the room. Breanu had returned, smiling, sure of himself.

"A terrible thing," Fan repeated. "Let's have another cocktail." Her tall figure curved toward David in a gesture almost of caress. "I'm so glad you have red hair," she murmured. "Mat is so dark."

Unexpectedly finding young Farland and Jane Rider in his lawyer's home, roused Breanu's interest. He remained imperturbable when Dick Garrison casually remarked, "By the way, Mat, for the present David is staying on here with me," adding, "I intend to keep the boy out of mischief."

So that was it. Mat's black eyebrows rose; flattened. "It's all right with me, Dick." He flashed one of his handsome smiles in David's direction. His men had reported that one of the two young fellows they had dealt with at Overpeck Creek had been a red-head. Well—well! All this would bear watching.

Neither troopers nor New York detectives had made progress in tracking down the man—or woman—who had brutally stabbed Carlisle to death, and thrust her into the rumble seat of Jane Rider's coupe. The sinister couple, David had mentioned, seemed to have vanished in thin air. The hunt went on.

Nothing mattered any more to Arnold Swift, Carlisle's father. Hard-eyed, grim-lipped, he stayed on in the big, desolate house in Greenwich, Connecticut, from which Carlisle had fled, three years ago, to find adventure in New York. Gay, reckless Carlisle, fed up with her set and their rounds. Her mother had died shortly after Carlisle had eloped with this Breanu, a questionable promoter of obscure business.

When questioned about his daughter's death, Swift's only answer was, "I have nothing to say."

On that first crisp October Sunday, Mat Breanu drove his conspicuous white limousine out to the Rider farmhouse. He was in high spirits as he whipped along the roads of Rockland County. He had never looked better than in the smart tweeds which set off the glow of his olive skin. His white teeth occasionally sparkled in the sun.

There was a fine quality about this country girl, which made New York women appear over-dressed, over-mannered. Nothing like clean stock, clean breeding, he thought. She was a lady. He would marry her if he got free of his daring, his perilous mission.

The first arms consignment safely off for a remote Baltic port, and he would wash his hands of the whole business. Why should he risk his neck in Balkan politics and intrigue when he could make money in this country of his adoption? As for David Farland and Fan—Breanu's eyes lost their silken luster—he must see to it that they didn't make trouble.

Jane was feeling pretty sick of everything, when she saw the splendid car turn from the main highway and hum along the dirt road toward her. Could she ever forget that car?

She and her mother had just returned from church, and Jane was standing outside, watching Timmy race in circles on the fading green of lawn. Thin smoke curled from Kurt Helm's log cabin behind trees whose leaves looked as if the paint were drying and peeling from them. Jane ran into the house. "Mother! she called excitedly, "Mr. Breanu's coming to see us. He said he would." She was glad she had kept on her pretty blue dress.

"My dear, why on earth should he come out here?" Mrs. Rider felt and looked a little troubled as she came from the livingroom, where she had been sitting a moment before changing her Sunday dress which lent quiet fashion to her white hair and pink cheeks.

The house was so dull on week-ends without David. Jane hadn't been the same since that trip to New York when she saw David. Even her work with the George Givens hadn't brought any real satisfaction.

Now seeing the revived color in the child's face, Mrs. Rider put aside her qualms. She had nothing against Mr. Breanu. The poor man must have suffered, losing his wife so horribly. She went out with Jane to welcome their unexpected guest.

Witnesses said the men were trapped in the telescoped cab of the truck, which burst into flames after the crash.

REMINDS FARMERS OF FIRE CONTRACT

Farmers living in areas within Perry township were reminded today by R. Clayton Eckstein, township trustee's president, that the township holds a contract with the city for fire protection and that the farmers should call the Salem fire department immediately in case of fire.

The contract is renewed on a year-to-year basis.

A blacktop surface has been applied to the Painter road northeast of the city for a distance of about a mile, bringing to five the total mileage of township roads now covered by the bituminous top. All other secondary roads in Perry township are slated.

PROMPT UNLOADING OF CARS IS URGED

A meeting of the Youngstown District Car Efficiency committee, composed of railroad and industrial representatives, was held at the Youngstown club recently.

J. F. Duesenberry, district manager, Association of American Railroads, Pittsburgh, spoke on the subject of car supply and stressed the necessity of prompt unloading of railroad equipment in order to provide sufficient cars for loading during the coming months.

The railroads are building new cars and their repair program has reduced the number of bad order cars to the lowest point in years. Carloadings are approaching 1,000,000 cars per week and the purpose of the meeting was to bring to the attention of the shipping public the absolute necessity of conservation of equipment through prompt loading and unloading of railway equipment so that the defense program can go forward without interruption.

Oppose 3.2 Beer

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—Sale of 3.2 beer in the nation's army camps was opposed today in a resolution adopted by the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union in convention here.

Mrs. Bertha McKinney of Cincinnati, a director of the organization, said "the use of liquor by members of the army not only entails expense which they can ill afford, but also leads to loss of control, mental and physical, loss of efficiency, and breaks down stamina to such an extent that they often are unable to stand up under rigorous training."

MARSILIA SINGING IN NEW YORK OPERA

His successful appearance with the Cleveland Summer orchestra last summer a matter of record now, Tenor Robert Marshall, known here as Joseph Marsilia, is repeating that success in New York where he is singing the role of Ferrando in Mozart's "Così Fan Tutte" with the New Opera company, conducted by Dr. Fritz Busch. Marshall, according to New York critics, created a most favorable appearance in his operatic debut last week in the role. He was a member of the Cleveland Singers' club while he studied and worked in Cleveland, was soloist in the Cleveland Institute of Music opera productions and soloist in many churches. His home was originally here.

The company with which he is singing will produce little known operatic works with American singers. Marshall will have the leading tenor role in Verdi's "MacBeth" which will be the next production of the company.

AMERICAN CERAMIC BUSINESS BOOMING

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 23.—The American ceramic business is booming but pottery manufacturers must contend with priorities now, and a possible influx of cheaper imported ware after the war. Joseph M. Wells, chairman of the labor committee of the United States Pottery's association, said today.

National defense has not affected operations for clay, flint and feldspar, essential pottery materials, which are not required for government orders. An early shortage of cartons has been eased. District potteries are operating at peak production and selling the output as fast as it leaves the kilns. "We are turning out more in dozens and dollars than ever before," Wells explained.

Confer On Strike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—A conference of the defense mediation board and officials of the International Harvester company and the CIO-United Automobile Workers continued today without report of progress in a labor dispute at the company's Springfield, O., truck works. STRESSES FARMERS' PART IN WAR PLAN

AAA Administrator asserts It's Time To "Start Slugging"

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—A man charged with keeping the nation's breadbasket filled told a group of Ohio farmers yesterday that the European war "is our war and we might just as well pull our heads out of the sand."

In an address prepared for a rally of farmers to launch state-wide participation in the farm defense program, R. M. Evans, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, declared that America no longer can fight its battles with one hand tied behind its back and that "the time has come when we've got to roll up our sleeves and start slugging with both hands."

Just back from surveying conditions in England, Evans said "Great Britain must have American food to win" against Germany.

He outlined as precedent-breaking aspects three points of the 1942 U. S. farm production program and said they would vitally affect the nation's economic and defense policies. They were:

"1. For the first time in history farm production goals set up for every agricultural commodity are aimed at accomplishing a job of unprecedented magnitude—greater farm production in history. What is a better safeguard against hunger and what is a better safeguard against inflationary prices?"

"2. For the first time in history the nutritional needs of our people are being considered in the production plans of farmers the country over. The program is providing us with a pattern for a post-war era. I am confident that we can match agriculture's surplus capacity with increased consumption of food to raise the nutritional standards of our people."

"3. For the first time in history, our agriculture is setting up a production schedule that consciously is taking into account reserves of food for freedom. These stockpiles of food reserves being built up for the sake of democracy will be the biggest single factor in shaping the future course of world history."

Evans said that while in England he was told that if American food for Great Britain is cut off, "Great Britain is a thing of the past. They couldn't get through the winter."

Auto Racer Is Killed

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 23.—Gus Schrader, Kyn of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, nine time national dirt track automobile driving champion, was fatally injured last night when his speedy little race locked wheels with another during a contest at the Louisiana State fair.

Schrader's car connected with one driven by Jimmy Wilburn, Portland, Ore.

For a split second the two speeding cars traveled hub to hub, then Schrader was catapulted almost 15 feet into the air and over the race track fence. Wilburn was not injured.

"F. D. R." Ticket Loses

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—Proponents of the Roosevelt ticket have lost another step in their efforts to get on the November election at Campbell.

The state supreme court late yesterday refused a writ of mandamus to Joseph E. Julius and Anthony F. Pacellau to compel the Mahoning county board of elections to accept their candidacies, upholding in effect the Mahoning county common pleas court which had enjoined the election board from putting the ticket on the ballot.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

STASSEN SPEAKS ON G.O.P. PROGRAM

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—The Republican party, says Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, "should not be obstructionist or isolationist" but "should be big enough to have room within it for differences of opinion."

He related his views on "Republican responsibilities today" in an address before the Ripon Republican club, which was broadcast nationally last night.

He prefaced his recommendations for a four-point Republican policy by declaring "that so far as the internal affairs of our Republican party are concerned, I am opposed to movements to either read individuals out of the party, or to engage in purges."

"We should recognize frankly that the Republican party should be big enough to have room within it for differences of opinion."

The Minnesota governor made the "first and foremost" point of his four recommendations a stipulation that the party should be neither obstructionist nor isolationist.

He also declared it "should constantly make constructive suggestions for improving our defenses," should "plan a strong foreign policy for this nation to take a leading role in establishing a system of justice between nations and the maintenance of peace in the post-war period," and that it "should prepare to be a reconstruction party" with a program to meet "the acute post-war domestic problems of agriculture, labor and business."

warrant. The board's other recommendations include two $10 payments for 1941 vacations, and payment of four cents a ton for washer loss.

In Detroit, CIO unionists, openly rebelling against their own union leaders, continued picketing the Great Lakes Steel corporation plant which until their walkout a week ago was producing high tensile steel for defense uses. The strikers have asked for a new contract with the company, reinstatement of 16 suspended strike leaders, and for removal of Orval Kincaid, Detroit director of the CIO Steel Workers Organizing Committee. They contended Kincaid did not give them a voice in union affairs.

At Pittsburgh, A decision to mediate averted for the present a threatened general strike of 250,000 AFL craftsmen in the Pittsburgh industrial area. Leaders of the AFL Central Labor union had approved a walkout in support of grievances of the building trades council against the Duquesne Light company. The union is seeking to have the company use AFL labor in building an $8,000,000 power plant. At Bendix, N. J.: A picket line which CIO officials said was composed of 3,000 union members by 7 a. m. formed at the strike-affected Air Associates, Inc. plant which has $5,000,000 worth of aviation contracts. Irving Abramson, chairman of the state CIO council, said: "We're going to keep this plant closed down until Washington takes some definite action."

CIO unionists called the strike Sept. 30, accusing the company of unfair labor practices and refusal to sign a contract. The mediation board referred the case to President Roosevelt after failing to get a settlement.

PROTESTS ACTION IN HOUSING WORK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Senator Brewster (R., Me.) protested today that Sidney Hillman, director of labor relations for the defense program, was exercising "dangerous powers" by advising against award of a contract to a low bidder on a Wayne county, Mich., defense housing project.

Brewster, member of the senate committee investigating national defense, said he would urge that this controversial contract be awarded to the low bidder at once despite Hillman's testimony that he feared such action might cause a "civil war" in Detroit labor circles.

Hillman told the committee yesterday that the enterprises of P. J. Currier of Detroit, low bidder on the job, had been operated on a non-union basis except for a brief interval, and that Currier at one time was engaged in a "bitter fight" with the Detroit teamsters' union. "All these facts," Hillman testified, "indicated to the labor division that the experience of the Currier companies in their labor relations was such that serious consequences might result should this award be made to the Currier company."

Brewster commented as the senate group asked Hillman to return for further testimony today on the subject.

RIVERS COMMITTEE TO MEET TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The house rivers and harbors committee will meet tomorrow to discuss legislation for a billion dollar navigation and power program to be introduced soon.

Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) said plans to act finally on a bill this week were changed to enable members to study certain sections, particularly those intended to give assurances that the program would not interfere with national defense. The committee has decided to emphasize that none of the works would be undertaken during the emergency except those considered urgent for defense. Even these would be subject to priorities for materials.

The program embraces navigation and power developments including the Beaver-Mahoning canal in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Excused from Jury Duty

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 23.—A 76-year-old unnamed Missourian who hasn't even "taken out my first papers yet" was excused from jury service by Superior Judge Louis Bunge.

"He's excused for age, not because he was born in Missouri," the judge explained. "I really didn't know before Missouri didn't consider itself part of the union."

The aged farmer, in requesting exemption, wrote: "I am 76 years old, born in Missouri and haven't even got my first (citizenship) papers yet."

Will Free Suspect

LONDON, O., Oct. 23.—A 37-year-old man arrested in Wilmington as a suspect in molestation of women probably will be released, Sheriff Gorman Clark said after the suspect could not be identified as a man who fled from a Lilly Chapel home after the attempted rape of a 60-year-old woman.

Three Springfield women were frightened later and officials attempted to connect the two cases.

village of "V" from which it was said, they had been ejected earlier by a Russian counterattack.

The Red army line was said to be holding in the Mozhaisk vicinity, 57 miles west of Moscow.

At a third point in the great battle for Russia's capital, street fighting was said to be raging in a city designated only as "N" where it was said, six days of combat already have cost the Germans 3,800 men killed and wounded, 48 tanks, 65 vehicles, 80 motorcycles and 15 guns.

The battle in the Orel sector, on the highway from Kiev 200 miles south of Moscow, still continues with the Germans stalled, the Red army declared.

Its dispatches said a German effort to break through toward Moscow had failed at a cost of 150 German tanks and more than a regiment of infantry even though one Nazi wedge had slipped into the Russian lines.

BUCKEYE HUSKERS BATTLE FOR TITLE

(By Associated Press)

URBANA, Oct. 23.—One of Ohio agriculture's most attractive prizes was up for decision today between 21 men seeking the state shock corn husking championship in 80 minutes of muscle and nerve straining competition.

The contestants were the fastest huskers found in county contests held this fall throughout the state. Wallace Passett of Wyandot county turned in the best preliminary record by husking 1,775 net pounds of corn. Reuben Pritchard of Crawford county made the second best mark of 1,586 pounds. Floyd Gale of Delaware county is defending champion.

A silver cup and other prizes await today's winner, although he will not qualify for any national honors. The national contest is held only in standing corn husking.

Contest officials expected about 20,000 persons here today and another 20,000 tomorrow to watch the standing corn contest to decide Ohio's entrants in the national contest in La Salle county, Illinois, Nov. 3. Both the Ohio champion and the runnerup will be eligible to go to Illinois.

Best record in county standing corn eliminations this year was made by T. J. Feehan of Wood county with a net of 2,459 pounds. Forest Hileman of Mercer county was second with 2,419. The defending champions is Chester Collins of Hardin county.

Set Loading Record

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—Loading of bituminous coal at Lake Erie docks established an alltime high for the seven days ending Oct. 20, officials of the Ore and Coal Exchange said today. Dumpings of 1,090,388 tons were noted as compared with 1,851,312 tons in the corresponding period ending May 13, 1940.

Half Post Diggers

AKRON, Oct. 23.—Common pleas court issued a temporary restraining order yesterday preventing Akron Transportation Co. workmen from installing poles for new trolley buses on Elmwood avenue after residents filled in the post holes and threatened the workmen with water from garden hoses.

RULES FERGUSON MUST O. K. TRANSFER

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—The common pleas court held yesterday that $75,000 for mailing old age pensioners' checks could not be transferred from State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to the Welfare department without his approval.

The court at the same time dissolved an order which restrained the state board of control from certifying to Ferguson and the welfare department action of Sept. 30 ordering Ferguson to surrender the money.

The legislature had transferred the function of mailing pensioners' checks from Ferguson to the welfare department but failed to transfer the postage money and Ferguson declined to relinquish it.

The division of aid for the aged, which now handles the mailing, said that by skimping elsewhere it would have enough money for postage during the remainder of this year and 1942.

The romantic and exciting life of the daring Belle Starr, famed in legend and story throughout the west, is the theme of the picture at the State theater tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Randolph Scott, Gene Tierney, Dana Andrews, John Sheppard, Elizabeth Patterson, Chill Wills, Louise Beavers and other well-known players are featured in the cast.

Belle Starr, lovely daughter of an ardent southern family at the close of the Civil war, defied northern armies, the law and, finally, her own family, to support a lost cause.

When Union army leaders captured her brother and her sweetheart, they burned her home and took the men to a union prison. She aroused sympathizers and stormed the jail, rescuing the men, but making all of them outlaws.

The film story recounts the exploits of the glamorous woman bandit and her romance with the southern scout who followed her into every adventure.

At the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday are: "Let's Go Collegiate" with Frankie Darro, Marica Jones, Jackie Moran; and Charles Starrett's western, "Prairie Stranger."

PITTSBURGH — Three million dollars' worth of national defense materials are flowing from Pittsburgh district mills every day, according to an estimate by Frank L. Dugan, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

FIGURES INCREASE ON TAX PROPOSAL

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—H. C. Atkinson, administrator of the state bureau of unemployment compensation, estimated today that a new schedule of federal social security taxes reported under consideration in Washington would increase contributions of Ohio employers and workers $160,000,000 a year.
Basing his figures on an estimated taxable payroll of $2,500,000,000 in Ohio for 1942, Atkinson said the contemplated hike from one to five per cent in employees' old age pension contributions would mean an increase from $25,000,000 to $125,000,000.
Employers' contributions to the pension fund would jump from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 with a rate advance from one to two per cent.
In the unemployment insurance division, employers would continue to pay three per cent, or $75,000,000 in place of an estimated $40,000,000 expected from the 1.5 per cent payroll tax under the Ohio merit rating system scheduled to go into effect Jan. 1.
The total Ohio tax under the contemplated federal program would be $250,000,000, Atkinson said.
William Papier, chief of the BUC division of research and statistics, reported that 72 per cent of Ohio's unemployment compensation taxes come from eight metropolitan counties. The breakdown included Cuyahoga, 25 per cent; Hamilton, 13; Summit, 8; Montgomery, 7; Lucas, 6; Franklin, 5; Mahoning, 5; and Stark, 4.

GERMANS REPORT FOUR SHIPS SUNK

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The German high command said today that U-boats had sunk four merchant ships totaling 32,000 tons, including the 14,000-ton troop transport Auranian.
(Lloyd's register of shipping lists Auranian as a 13,984-ton passenger liner of the Cunard-White Star line. Her port of registry was given as Liverpool.)
It was stated that the ships were sunk from out of a well-defended convoy.
(There was no immediate announcement as to whether the Auranian was believed to have carried any troops.)
The communiqué described the merchantmen as a "fast-sailing military convoy" and said the attack occurred in the Atlantic but gave no further details.

No Freshman On Varsity Grid Teams, Ohio Conference Rules

SUGGESTIONS ARE REJECTED BY 20 TEAMS IN CIRCUIT

Small Colleges Raise Topic Of Freshman Eligibility: Have Reduced Squads

(By Associated Press)—Ohio conference colleges must get along without using freshmen students on varsity football teams.

Representatives of the 20-member circuit last night rejected three proposals designed to help smaller schools make up for the loss of players to selective service and defense jobs.

Coaches from such schools as Mount Union, Ashland and Marietta colleges, their football squads reduced to 16 or 17 players, said they would attempt to finish their schedules provided there were no further depletion due to injuries.

The conference members voted against:

- (1) Repealing the rule making students ineligible for varsity competition until their second year;
- (2) Permitting schools to arrange with their opponents to use freshmen after approval by the conference eligibility commission;
- (3) dividing the conference into separate circuits for small and large schools.

The meeting officially adopted rulings by Conference Commissioner George Dasiel of Lorain permitting competition with teams from the nation's armed service camps and making drafted college athletes immediately eligible for competition upon their release from the service.

Wittenberg college of Springfield was the only conference member not represented at the meeting.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Ever hear the one about the little fish that didn't get away? The George Ruppert fishing contest offers prizes for the smallest fish caught as well as the big ones. Current leader is a black sea bass weighing 75 grains or 0.1714 ounces. Al Well, who has four featherweights and five welters in his fight stable, is talking about putting two of them together to make one heavyweight who might lick Louis. Dan Topping, who is threatening to make some trades if his professional Dodgers don't wake up, was seen listening attentively when Ossie Solem described the beauties of the "Y" formation to the football writers the other day, especially when Ossie remarked that his contract runs out this year.

Today's Guest Star

Jerry Mitchell, New York Post: "Zeke Bonura was released by the army. His 33 years made him an over-age destroyer."

Hot Stove Warmup

Latest rumor about Gaby Hartnett is that he will manage the Phillies next year, but there's some doubt whether Gerry Nugent would put up the kind of dough Gaby would demand for that job. Freddy Hutchinson, who won 26 games for the Buffalo Internationals, didn't pitch a game after he rejoined the Tigers and the story is that his arm was "dead" the first time he tried to warm up after flinging five times in ten days for the Bisons. One ball player who won't have a chance to hold back a few dollars from his pay is Johnny Riney. His new bride, the former Dorothy Comiskey, is treasurer of the White Sox and signs Johnny's pay checks.

The Pascoag, R. I. park race track will present a "Marlene Dietrich" trophy Saturday to the horse with "the most perfect legs." If one turns up with game like Marlene's the spectators probably will have to be de-nerved.

Windsor (Colo.) High school already has closed its football season—the school shut down so the boys could help with the sugar beet harvest.

Wrong Approach

When Umpire Beans Reardon was asking President Ford of the National League for a raise, he remarked: "I'd retire from umpiring if I had enough money." Frick promptly turned down the raise for fear Beans really meant it.

GOSHEN GRID TEAM ROMPS OVER AUGUSTA

Scoring in every quarter, a strong Goshen High eleven yesterday afternoon walloped Augusta, 40 to 19, in a game at Augusta. The winners piled up a total of 17 first downs to seven and kept their goal line uncrossed while the varsity was in the fray during the first three quarters. All Goshen touchdowns were scored on the crest of a strong ground attack.

Score by quarters:

Goshen 13 6 14 7—40
Augusta 0 0 0 19—19
Goshen touchdowns: Schopfer, 2 (both 20-yard end runs); Blets, 2 (12 and 18 yard end runs); Schoen (blocked punt, ran 15 yards); and Yates, (17 yard end run).

BOWLING RESULTS

The Pastime League battle for top honors tightened up a bit as the result of last night's bowling on the Grate alleys.

Albright's dropped one game to Leudon's and now share first place with the Gold Bars, who swept three from the Eagles. Citizens Ice, taking three from the Strip club, are only one game behind the leaders.

Into a tie for fourth place moved the Salem Label and Jackson Service fives, the Labelmen winning three from the Elks on a forfeit and Jackson's taking the C. B. Hunt team for a count of three. In the other match, Bloomberg's forfeited to Sponsellers and dropped from fourth to sixth place.

Jim Primm of Citizens Ice, who hit 603 on the Masonic alleys Tuesday night, continued his fast pace last night by counting 599, including a 244. His teammate, Bill Pauline, was not far behind with a 596. Shinn of Jackson's counted 581 and Pugh, who chalked up the season's high of 683 on the Masonic alleys Tuesday night, had a fair night Wednesday with 560, aided by a 220 in his first game.

On team scores, Citizens Ice led the way with a 2703, including one game of 973.

The Ohio Edison keglers kept up their winning ways last night as they swept three from Mullins to move into the undisputed lead. Kresges, tied with the Utility bowlers last week for the pole position, dropped back into a tie for second with the Salem News after dropping one game to Stark's. The News moved up into second by virtue of a three-game win over Wark's. Brownies took two from the Bankerettes, leaving them exclusive possession of the cellar in loop standings.

Recommends Probe

ZANESVILLE, Oct. 23.—Coroner S. S. Day today recommended further investigation of the death of Penley Wilson Vermilion, about 55, of Newark, whose body was found floating in the Muskingum river. Day said death resulted from drowning although the victim had a broken jaw and several fractured ribs which might have been inflicted in a fight.

O. S. U. Dairyman Win

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—Ohio State university's dairy products judging team won the annual students' national contest at the International Dairy Industries exposition, taking the all-products sweepstakes cup and the milk judging trophy which now becomes its permanent property for three victories. John R. Juhl of Springfield, Ohio State senior, was high individual winner.

ILLINOIS POINTS TOWARD JUZWICK OF NOTRE DAME

Fleet Irish Back Romped For Two Touchdowns at Illini Last Year

(By Associated Press)—The fighting Illini are cousins to Steve Juzwick of the Fighting Irish. They allowed him to slip past their outstretched hands for two touchdowns last year when Notre Dame beat Illinois, 26-0. So Steve, who is having another pretty good year this season, is looking forward to Saturday's game at South Bend.

Juzwick so impressed Bob Zuppke of Illinois last year that the Dutchman put him on a par with Tom Harmon of Michigan. This year Steve is Notre Dame's leading scorer with 23 points and has carried the ball 41 times for total gains of 184 yards.

If Saturday's game results in a passing dud, which it may well be, Juzwick might play a prominent part along with his teammate, Angelo Bertelli. He has snared eight passes so far, all of them thrown by Bertelli, for 135 yards.

Runs 'em Back

On punt returns, too, he might be a severe headache to the Illini, who have gone great guns against secondary competition but were mowed down by Minnesota. He has brought back eight kicks for 128 yards so far and made Notre Dame's longest run in the Carnegie Tech game when he returned one kick for 25 yards.

This is the only weekend of the season that the nine teams of the Western conference plus their No. 1 ally, Notre Dame, will engage in games strictly in their own company. While the Irish and Illini meet in the only non-league battle, Michigan-Minnesota and Northwestern-Ohio State will provide the major conference excitement and Wisconsin-Indiana and Iowa-Purdue will clash.

The Wildcat-Buckeye game at Columbus may turn out to be a meeting of teams without their major stars. With Jack Graf of Ohio State already sidelined with an injury, Bill DeCorrevont of Northwestern went to the hospital yesterday with a slight touch of flu and his chances of playing were uncertain. Johnny Hallabrin, being groomed for Graf's job at Ohio, also went to the bench yesterday as a result of an injured ankle.

Choose Alliance Queen
